

A creative and driven problem-solver, Janice Chase is a litigation attorney who supports clients from a variety of industries.

Janice is passionate about understanding clients' objectives and working to find efficient, dynamic, and tailored solutions. She frequently assists with many of the different stages of litigation, including research, discovery, and motion drafting. Through her pro bono work, she has also gained experience in direct assistance and communication with a wide variety of clients.

Prior to joining the firm as an associate, Janice was a summer associate in the San Diego office.

At Boston College Law School, Janice gained experience as an extern for a law firm in New York where her work focused on Art & Cultural Heritage, as well as FINRA arbitration. Janice was also a research assistant to a law professor, engaging in research primarily focused on the legal landscape of medieval Europe. She was also a semi-finalist in the Boston College Law School moot court competition and was recognized as a Top-5 Oralist. Through these experiences, Janice gained valuable and transferrable skills that continue to enhance her legal practice.

Outside of her legal practice, Janice enjoys surfing, rock climbing, and cheering on the Red Sox.
