16 Key Provisions Of The $900 Billion Stimulus Package

January 8, 2021

Highlights

A fourth federal COVID stimulus package, totaling $900 billion was signed into law on Dec. 27, 2020

The package, also known as the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021, extends many relief programs from the CARES Act

Relief funding is available to individuals, businesses, banks, healthcare providers, tribal governments, transportation, infrastructure, and more

For businesses, communities and individuals, the $900 billion stimulus package signed into law carries more than just the weight of its 5,000 pages.

The stimulus package – referred to as the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021 – extends a number of CARES Act pandemic relief programs, creates several new programs and makes technical corrections to resolve ambiguities and implementation difficulties discovered after the passage of the CARES Act.

The package was included in the year-end appropriations bill and signed by President Trump on Dec. 27, 2020. In addition to COVID-related and program-specific allocations, it extends funding on previously appropriated money to Dec. 31, 2021, with no additional flexibility for funds after that date.

Here is an overview of 16 key components of the stimulus package.

PPP Program

- Extended for businesses that did not apply previously and for those needing a second round of funding
- Extended to nonprofits (501(c)(6)), media organizations and housing co-ops
- Funding runs through March 31, 2021 or until funds are depleted
- Maximum loan amount is $2 million for a first-time borrower
- Second-round borrowers must have less than 300 employees, coupled with a 25 percent reduction in gross receipts during at least one quarter of 2020 as compared to 2019
- 60 percent of the funds must be used for payroll to be forgivable, but the remaining 40 percent can now include necessities such as supplier costs for essential goods and PPE/protective equipment, as well as enhancements like Plexiglas barriers, property damage from riots or protests, and certain other operating expenses like business software/computing, and the like
- PPP loans are not taxable, and as such this bill retroactively limits the ability of IRS to eliminate deductions for business expenses covered by a PPP loan

Employee Retention Tax Credit (ERTC)

- Maximum of $14,000 per employee through June 30, 2021
- May now be used by businesses that also received a PPP loan (whereas the original CARES Act did not permit this)

Economic Injury Disaster Loan

- $20 billion has been allocated to this program
- Issuing $10,000 grants that do have to be repaid
- Eligibility requires a 30 percent reduction in revenue over an eight-week period, or businesses that operate in designated low-income areas
- Can be used along with PPP loan program without affecting forgiveness of PPP loan

Live Venues and Entertainment

- $15 billion allocated to this program; it will likely be exhausted rapidly
