

Elizabeth Walker's practice focuses on debt financing for 501(c)(3) and governmental organizations, with particular expertise in healthcare finance. Elizabeth's clients value her ability to synthesize complex concepts and her dedication to helping her clients achieve optimal financing results while preserving long-term operational flexibility.

Thorough and decisive, Elizabeth represents borrowers, issuers, underwriters and lenders across the nation in tax-exempt and taxable financings. In addition to her transactional experience, she routinely advises her clients with respect to ongoing tax, disclosure and obligated group compliance matters.

With a nationwide practice and clients that range from critical access hospitals to some of the nation's largest healthcare systems, Elizabeth brings a diverse perspective on the challenges facing healthcare organizations.

Prior to joining Barnes & Thornburg, Elizabeth was a shareholder at a national healthcare law firm, focused on tax-exempt and taxable financing for healthcare organizations. She began her career in public finance in the New York office of an AmLaw 20 firm, representing state, territorial, and local governments and agencies.
