

Court Holds Company Can Reject Terms, Conditions Of Expired CBA

February 15, 2016 | National Labor Relations Board, Labor And Employment

Against the constant current of labor-friendly decisions, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals recently provided a win to employers. As most National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) watchers know, the NLRB requires employers to adhere to the terms and conditions of an expired collective bargaining agreement (CBA) either until a new agreement has been reached or the parties achieve impasse. Continue reading this Barnes & Thornburg publication...

RELATED PRACTICE AREAS

Labor and Employment
Labor Relations
National Labor Relations Board (NLRB)

RELATED TOPICS

Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA)