After many organizations pushed to comply with the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) adopted by the European Union and effective in 2018, they now have shifted their focus to the other state and country data protection laws that have followed. Data breaches are still occurring at an alarming rate, showing that entities are still vulnerable and may not be prepared to respond. This one-hour webinar will address the GDPR; state and country data protection laws; privacy policies and data use; and data breach issues that affect organizations.
