The ongoing ramifications of COVID-19 continue to create unique legal situations in all industries – and higher education is certainly one of them. Join attorneys from our Higher Education and Class Actions practices for information on tuition reimbursement class action cases that are starting to hit education administrators' desks. Our discussion will:

- Review current tuition reimbursement class action cases that have been filed across the country
- Discuss class action legal standards and items of interest that apply to higher education
- Provide a forum for questions and answers, as well as resources for ongoing information updates

The webinar will feature an extended Q&A session. You may ask questions during the Q&A or submit them when you register.

1.0 hour CLE credit pending.
