Matt Gibson and Reid Johnson organized the “Spark Series: Tips and Resources for Building a Technology-Based Company in Oklahoma,” a life sciences event held at The Skyline Events Center in Oklahoma City. The four-hour seminar and networking reception attracted more than 75 entrepreneurs, businesses and community members engaged in the local life sciences market. Matt and Reid led presentations on corporate and investment life cycles and avoiding intellectual property diligence pitfalls. They were joined by 13 other biotech industry professionals who shared their experiences and success stories.
