

Angela Pannicke focuses her work on matters related to legal ethics and professional responsibility in connection with the firm's General Counsel and Professional Responsibility Committee.

Before joining the professional responsibility team, Angela was a paralegal in Barnes & Thornburg's Litigation Department.

She has significant experience in complex, multi-district litigation matters. She frequently assisted with cases requiring identification, collection, management, review and production of large amounts of documents and electronic information because of her extensive electronic discovery knowledge. She drafted pleadings and discovery, interviewed witnesses, prepared case chronologies and participated in all aspects of cases up through and including providing courtroom assistance during jury and bench trials.
