The recent damage and destruction brought by hurricanes and wildfires in 2017 and 2018 serve as vivid reminders that losses caused by weather events and natural disasters are becoming all too familiar sights. The potentially devastating results often can't be prevented, but insurance can be a crucial part of any business' plans to survive, mitigate, and recover from large-scale property damage, business interruption and other losses.

Barnes & Thornburg's Insurance Recovery and Counseling Practice Group invites to you to join us for a 60-minute CLE webinar that will discuss ways to insure against and recover from natural disasters, including:

- Causation (including anti-concurrent causation language)
- Contingent business interruption
- Preparing your claim
- Service interruption
- Ingress/egress
- Civil authority
- Calculating business interruption
- Choice of law
- Reservation of rights letters
