Join us for an hour-long discussion on the issues facing Minnesota employers in 2021 as they prepare to return to a post-COVID workplace. We will look at:

- Downsizing and re-organization
- The pitfalls of vaccinations and other continued workplace safety measures
- The transition from distanced work back to in-person work
- Medical considerations surrounding COVID, including accommodation requests, vaccine issues, medical inquiries and workers' compensation

The speakers will examine the potential litigation that could arise out of this transition, including non-compete and non-disclosure issues for separated employees, not to mention other COVID-19 related workplace litigation.
