Why More Big Law Firms Are Outsourcing Associate Training

October 24, 2023 | Indianapolis

Joshua Hollingsworth was quoted in an American Lawyer article, “Why More Big Law Firms Are Outsourcing Associate Training.” The article discusses how law firms are collaborating with training organizations to provide supplemental, hands-on instruction to simulate real word tasks associates are asked to complete at their law firms. The training bridges the gap between the theory of law school and the tangible tasks of practicing law at large law firms.
